

MEDVEDEV REVELS IN THE ROLE OF PARTY POOPER

THE way Daniil Medvedev played in the US Open final, you wonder if he might emerge as kingmaker in the battle between the 'Big Three' to win most Grand Slam titles.

The Russian has a zany side — witness his hilarious FIFA computer game 'dead fish' celebration after beating Novak Djokovic — but is a massively formidable player who looks like the next world No.1.

His 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 victory was so dominant that inevitably the question will arise whether he could stop the Serb in his tracks. Djokovic needs one more major title to pass the currently incapacitated Rafael Nadal and Roger Federer.

Asked how he felt about just missing out on all four Slams of 2021, 'Relief,' replied

By MIKE DICKSON

Djokovic. 'I was glad it was over because the build-up for this tournament and everything that mentally, emotionally I had to deal with was a lot to handle.'

Medvedev seemed to have relished his role as the spoiler, and he will be a serious threat to Djokovic's usual dominance of the Australian Open.

'Knowing that I beat somebody who was 27-0 in a year in Grand Slams, going for huge history, knowing that I managed to stop him definitely makes it sweeter,' he said.

The race between Djokovic and Nadal is a fascinating prospect for next year as they stand at 20-all with Federer.

The Spaniard could still have at least one more French Open in him, while Djokovic is so good in Australia that in January he will seek his 10th title there.

Yet with Medvedev now having won that difficult first title, he is going to be a more potent threat in Melbourne.

Djokovic was left conceding that the 'changing of the guard' is already taking place.

'The transition was inevitable,' he said. 'The older guys are still hanging on. I still want to keep going, try to win more Slams, play for my country.'

'Those are the things that motivate me the most.'

'But the new generation is established. Of course they are going to take over. Tennis is in good hands because they're all nice guys and very, very high-quality players.'
