GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Reach

Reach plc are looking for talented

PRODUCTION JOURNALISTS

to help produce our iconic print titles in Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland, including the Irish Mirror and the Irish Daily Star

It is key that the successful candidates are fast and accurate with the ability to fashion sparkling copy and read-me headlines across our titles. Some design skills to assist in the wider production needs of the newspapers would be helpful. Knowledge of Adobe InDesign would be an advantage. Although this position will be supporting our Irish titles, location for this position is not restricted to Ireland, and we can also consider candidates working within the UK and will be home-based working.

It is key that the successful candidate is familiar with newspaper law and Press codes of conduct on both sides of the border of Ireland, and thrive in a high-pressure environment with challenging deadlines.

So, who are we?
You might not have heard of us but we have probably met without you even realising it. We are home to the UK and Ireland's most iconic digital platforms, magazines and newspapers. From the Mirror, Star, Daily Express and OK!, to our regional titles such as the Liverpool Echo, BirminghamLive and the Manchester Evening News (plus lots more), our brands and the stories we cover are as varied as our people. We help all kinds of people share experiences through our stories because we believe this is what makes us human. Oh, and we should probably also mention that with a monthly readership of 47 million people, Reach is the largest commercial publisher in the UK. At Reach, not only will you feel better understood, you will also feel you understand other people better too.

What will the role involve?

- Copy-taste and source, design, sub-edit and proof pages under pressure, to deadline and to the required standard
- Manage workload and complete page production process in line with established KPIs and benchmarks
- Ensure tasks are completed in accordance to IPSO and legal requirements
- Carry out tasks in line with the vision, strategy and business plan as laid out by the management team
- Flexible approach to changing shift patterns
- Maintain effective working relationships with commercial, newspaper sales and marketing departments
- Provide edition planning and ad plan management support when required
- Be open to receive and act upon constructive in-the-moment performance feedback from managers
- Support the print department in developing a culture of trust, where people are safe to speak up, clear on their role in the team's success and empowered to be their best at work
- Uphold Reach's policy around diversity and inclusion and work to ensure our values around non discrimination are upheld in everything we publish

Who are we looking for?

- Proven ability in sub-editing and proofing pages
- Copy sourcing and re-writing
- Track history of editorial page production ideally at Dailies level
- Understanding of basic journalism and law
- Picture selection and manipulation
- House style and brand positioning understanding
- Work under pressure
- Multi-tasking and time management
- Self-starter
- Attention to detail
- Problem-solving and decision making
- Design skills an advantage, although training can be given

GOOD SHOW: Shantreusse and Rachael Blackmore win the Novice Hurdle

SHANT'S FESTIVAL BOUND...

■ Ruairi MURPHY

SHANTREUSSE earned himself a place on Henry de Bromhead's Cheltenham Festival team with victory in the Surehaul Mercedes-Benz Novice Hurdle at Clonmel yesterday.

The Grade Three contest has thrown up several top-class performers in recent years, including De Bromhead's 2017 winner Monalee and his Cheltenham Gold Cup-winning stablemate Minella Indo, who found only Allaho too strong two years ago.

Monalee went on to finish second in the Albert Bartlett at Cheltenham, while Minella Indo reversed form with Allaho to win the same Grade One contest, which now looms large for Shantreusse.

An impressive 17-length winner on his first start over three miles at Cork last month, the six-year-old was the 7-5 favourite to follow up at Grade Three level.

Eye Van did not go down without a fight, but Shantreusse kicked five lengths clear on the run-in under Rachael Blackmore, seeing his Albert Bartlett odds trimmed to 14-1 from 16-1 by Paddy Power.

Stayer

De Bromhead (inset) said: "He is obviously a real stayer, loved that ground and jumps great. Rachael was brilliant on him and he is a real chaser in the making."

"It turned into a sprint and I thought we were going to struggle, but he had loads left jumping the last."

"I'm delighted for his owner Tony (Head) and his supporters and while I haven't spoken to Tony yet, if the boys have anything to do with it he'll run at Cheltenham!"

"We have a good record in this and it is a good prep for the Albert Bartlett." Another Clonmel winner who could have Cheltenham aspirations is Hors Piste, who justified 8-13 favouritism in the Surehaul Race Day Mares Maiden Hurdle for Willie Mullins and Paul Townend.

A narrow second on her Irish debut at Tramore on New Year's Day, the French recruit went one better with a 16-length verdict, setting up a possible appearance in the mares' novices' hurdle in the Cotswolds next month.

"She raced more efficiently today as she was a shade keen in Tramore. The stronger gallop today suited her and I think she improved for her Tramore run as well," said Townend.
