

We will back you, Norman assures breakaway stars

GREG Norman has pledged to 'defend, reimburse and represent' any players facing sanctions by participating in the LIV Golf Invitational Series after being denied permission to do so by the PGA Tour.

By ROBERT GORMAN

release to play the first 54-hole event at Centurion Club, which boasts a total prize fund of $25million (£23.75m) with $4m going to the winner.

injunctions in place to protect players in the face of any bans, including potentially from major championships, Norman — who is the CEO of LIV Golf — said: 'Yes.' He added: 'We are going to back up the players, we are going to be there for them, for whatever that is. We're ready to go. We don't want to go, but we're ready to go. It will be the player's choice. I'm not going to begrudge any player who makes a decision to play wherever he wants. We're giving them the ability because we believe LIV is here for a long period of time. If you want to go exclusively to the PGA Tour, happy days, go do it. I guarantee that a lot of people will come eventually to play with LIV Golf. I've said to the players, "we've got your back. Simple as that". We will defend, we will reimburse and we will represent.'

WALSH AND BROADHURST OFF TO FLYER

BOXING
By MARK GALLAGHER

IRELAND'S Michaela Walsh and Amy Broadhurst both won their opening bouts at the Women's World Championships in Istanbul but Tokyo Olympian Aoiife O'Rourke bowed out in her first round middleweight test. Walsh, also a Tokyo Olympian and double Commonwealth Games medallist, had far too much for American opponent Amella Moore in their featherweight bout, winning the fight on all five judges' scorecards while Broadhurst did likewise in her light-welterweight contest, with a dominant display against Croatia's Sara Beram.
