Reference Planning Application by Emmaville Limited for the development at the site of Scholarstown House, Scholarstown Road, Dublin 16, D16 E2H9 – RPS Ref 322
Reg Ref SD22A/0401

Dear Sir/Madam

It is with great concern that I view the development proposals outlined in the Site Notice dated 24 October 2022, in relation to the above, referencing the intention to apply for planning permission relating to the development at the site of Scholarstown House, Scholarstown Road, Dublin 16, D16 E2H9 .

These proposals seek to develop a large scale, bulky and high density development in the Scholarstown House lands and to make significant alterations to the interior of the protected structure – Scholarstown House.

In this regard, I wish to submit the following observations.

Scale, Bulk, Density, Height, Proximity to St Colmcilles school and Traffic

The proposal per the site notice includes the construction of 74 apartments, in an apartment block ranging in height from 3 to 5 stories in height.

This density, when taken with the current development in progress in the "Cosgrove" lands fronting on Scholarstown Road, is unsupported by the current infrastructure in the locality.

The proposed building is considerably higher than the adjoining housing developments in Orlagh Estate and Woodfield Estates which both comprise two story single family dwellings. It is also in excess of the Ros Mor View development which is on the opposite side of the Orlagh – Scholarstown junction which is a 4 storey building, with the top floor recessed. I would also note that the density of Ros Mor View of 35 apartments is considerably less than the proposed density of the 5 story development.

The height of the proposed development represents an overbearing presence to the houses in the adjoining Woodfield and Orlagh estates.

I also note the proximity of St Colmcilles school to the proposed development. The site is directly adjacent to the school grounds. This proximity together with the excessive height of the development will mean that, depending on their aspect, apartments and any balconies in the higher stories would overlook the school, its grounds and playing fields. This raises concerns for the privacy of the children as well as child protection/safety issues.

Carparking/ Traffic.

40 new car spaces are provided for 74 apartments. Scholarstown Road and the nearby housing estates, especially Orlagh and Woodfield estates already have significant carparking and traffic challenges. This is especially evident along the stretch of Scholarstown Road between Orlagh Roundabout and Templeroan Roundabout. This is likely to deteriorate further as the development in the Cosgrove lands are completed and become occupied.

Spillover of carparking and the negative impact of traffic from this oversized new development should not be permitted as it will make an already bad situation intolerable.

Summary

This proposed development by virtue of its scale bulk, density, and height, diminishes rather than enhances the external environments it impacts upon.

The application seeks approval for a quantum of development beyond the capacity of the site and surrounding infrastructure. It will considerably negatively impact on the current environments and mature housing estates in the locality.

I trust that my observations are recognised and will be taken into account when considering this planning application.

The payment receipt number I received for the Statutory fee of €20.00 which has been paid to the Council's Finance Department is T4/0/724484

Yours faithfully.
